Dear Kelly,

Tom Ellsworth and I were discussing the information previously sent to you related to our NHTSA Campaign Number 11E-054. I am writing in an effort to clarify that information.

When we issued our PART 573 Defect and Noncompliance Report on November 30, 2011, we estimated that the potential number of parts affected was 21,600, and the period covered was from January 1, 2004, through November 28, 2011. Upon subsequent testing and product review, we found that the actual number of parts affected was 7,956 (see attached letter from Tom Ellsworth dated December 27, 2011), and the period covered was from September 15, 2008 through the Mfg's Report Date of December 2, 2011.

After issuing the December 27th letter, we conducted an internal review and found that an error had been made when generating our results, and that the correct number of potential parts affected was 7,446 instead of 7,956 (the period covered did not change). This is also the number that was shown on our revised Equipment Safety Recall Quarterly Report Information for the quarter ended June 20, 2012 that was revised on July 18, 2012. Additionally, we will be sending you a revised report for the first quarter to show the correct number of parts affected.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
