July 29, 2003

Escondido, CA

To whom it may concern:

On July 19, 2003, my wife was driving our '94 Infinity Q45 with our daughter & her children.....all secured in seat belts. My wife suddenly noticed the air bag light blinking, followed by the blinking of the seat belt light. Before she could pull over, there was an AWFULLY LOUD NOISE that startled her and frightened everyone in the car. The housing for the seat belt on the passenger side began to SMOKE. The security guard at the gate of our community entrance where this incident occurred, said that he assumed that the loud noise from our car was that of a SONIC BOOM. My daughter thought she must have been SHOT and was most upset for quite awhile, as were the grandchildren and my wife.

I had the car towed by AAA to the dealership in Escondido. (Discovery Infinity, 855 La Terraza Blvd., Esc., CA, 92025)

The air bag never engaged they said, but no one seemed to know what had happened. Even the service consultant was puzzled for the first two days. Later, I was informed that the car was "OUT OF WARRANTY." I called a number given to me by the service consultant (1-800-662-6200) and was given a RUDE response by a manager (?), Deborah Frederick. The reply was, "It is your responsibility to check the air bags and the car in out of warranty." WHAT???? SAFETY EQUIPMENT FUNCTIONS ONLY DURING THE WARRANTY PERIOD? If my wife had have experienced this phenomenon minutes earlier on the freeway, my entire family could have been KILLED or severely injured!!!!!!!!!!

I have discovered online, under NHTSA, that this seat belt and air bag malfunction has happened before....SEVERAL times! Surprisingly enough, there has yet to be a RECALL. Shouldn't steps be taken to protect Infinity drivers from possible serious accidents and/or DEATH?

One other matter I have to complain about; The service consultant told me that I need a brake job which would cost $250. (see attached invoice) I took the car to my 76 station where I have my small jobs taken care of. This mechanic assured me that this job was completely unwarranted. (see attached invoice)

Sincerely,
