Hello, Today I ran across an ad that was in the Bulletin magazine which is put out by AARP. It gave me your address and a place to maybe get some help on a complaint I have.

Last fall my 1997 Mazda pick-up truck caught fire in a parking lot while unattended. This vehicle was made by Ford for Mazda. I have been to the local Ford dealers with pictures and have received no results or even interest other than my insurance company should take care of it. I am retired and can not afford all the coverage on my social security, only what is required by law. Therefore the cost of the lost has fallen on me which is not my fault at all.

The vehicle was parked in a parking lot where I had left it while at an auction house and had caught on fire all by it's self. several witnesses watched it burn. The fire company came and extinguished it, but it is a total loss. They busted out the windshield and ripped open the hood to get at the fire as you can see from the picture.

Had this happened while the vehicle was parked in my garage my house would have burned down also.

This complaint should be noted and others be warned as the tow truck driver said that it was most likely caused by sticking contacts in the electrical system.

The truck is parked at my house for any inspection which may be necessary

I thank you for any help you may send my way.
