To whom It may Concern:

I would like to find out if a particular vehicle I may consider buying has any Manufacturer Recalls.

I am disabled and have difficulty in doing research myself, and do not own or have access to a computer. So, if you could research this for me and correspond back to me via mail delivery, that would be most helpful and appreciated.

My vehicle in question is:

*1989 Nissan 4 wheel Drive Pick up Truck, Z-24i Engine that has 2389 cc, 2.4 capacity, with 8 spark plugs, and with Throttle Body Fuel injected carburetor system, this is a 4 cylinder type Engine, ^{5 speed manual transmission}

IF this vehicle does have certain manufacturer recalls, I need to know what to do AS FAR AS who to contact AND how to get reimbursed should I decide to purchase the vehicle with that condition.

I am more interested in any recalls regarding anything to do with the Engine, and how that recall, or particular defect might affect other components of that same Engine later on when driven.

I am also more interested in the transmission and any known manufacturer defects, as well any other mechanical or electrical known defects.

Any other known defects would be greatly appreciated. I have a caretaker who drives me around, so before I purchase this vehicle I want to be sure it is reliable in all aspects.

Thank you for your help!
Sincerely,
