 Subject: 2003 Ford Econo-line Van fire

I am investigating a fire that originated in a 2003 Ford Econo-line Van that is set-up as an ambulance and in use as such. The fire originated in the engine compartment. The vehicle was not in operation at the time of the fire. There was a Ford recall on the vehicle concerning the ABS system; however, it was fixed in Dec 2004. The origin of the fire is at ABS system/Master Brake Cylinder area. I called Ford, and I am getting the run around. I contacted the CPSC and they referred me to you.

Is your organization aware of any fire problems involving the above type vehicle?

Who would I contact in the Ford Company concerning any issues like this?

Thank You
