Comments:

I discovered last week excessive corrosion on top of the strut towers (both sides) on my 1999 Dodge Grand Caravan. By all of the retoric on allpar forums my situation is not unique. There is ample evidence out there that this is a design flaw and should be recalled. Daimler/Chrysler has a repair kit available. If the strut tower fails, and it looks like it will shortly, vehicle control (steering) will be lost. I hope this doesn't turn into a Explorer/Firestone fiaco!

Thank you
