

2005 SEP 22 AM 3:59

10137767

September 12, 2005

U.S. Dept. of Transportation
Natl. Highway Traffic Safety Admin.
Office of Defects Investigation
Washington, D.C.

My vehicle is a 2000 Dodge Dakota 4WD pickup with automatic transmission. Around the time the warranty expired I took it into Wiesner Dodge, 24730 Tomball Parkway, Tomball, Texas 77375, 281 351 2000 to check on a misfire in the engine when I drove on the freeway with the cruise control engaged. I wanted to make sure there wasn't any major problem before the warranty ran out. The service writer wanted to do a $350+ tuneup which I declined. I recently found that there apparently was a service bulletin that said the problem was with a sensor in the transmission and it was an expensive fix. How can I get the number of the service bulletin and pursue them fixing my truck under warranty like they should have?

I've tried to find a contact for Daimler Chrysler customer relations but haven't been able to.

Thanks for your help.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Magnolia, Texas [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

copy: Wiesner Dodge

Mania
9/22/05