Dear Safety Board

On May 2006, I purchased a 2006 Honda accord, 4 cyl. 4 door - auto.

I thought it was my eyes. But went to the eye DR. + had my lenses changed. It wasn't my eyes. My front Windshield is wavy. Even if you stand outside 5-10ft you can see the waves. I already blew out a tire. It's very distracting + dangerous. I went to the dealer + he said aerodynamics. I wrote to Honda cust. ser. in Calif. they called last week + said it was dynamics. I said shame on you Honda. My windshield has a genuine sticker on it: "Poor inspec." Is Honda in Shelton<sup>CT</sup>. CURTIS RYAN giving me a snow job? This is a real safety situation. I can't judge the right side of the windshield - So sorry I bought the car.

Very Truly yours
