Sirs:

While trouble shooting the brakes on my 2005 Fleetwood Orbit travel trailer I found that three of the four brakes had damaged wiring. The wires to the magnets were rubbing on the hubs to the extent that one pair was worn through effectively shorting out the brake system.

The one good brake did not have the wire retaining clips fastened

The brakes by Quality trailer products.

The trailer has about 5000 miles

One wheel is badly misaligned resulting in extreme tire wear.

Within the first 500 miles one wire from the brake housing shorted to the frame resulting in brake failure, the wire did not have enough slack.

The trailer was purchased 5-6-05

I feel there should be a recall on these brakes as a failure at the wrong time could be a disaster.
