Subject: NHTSA recall 04VO84000 Workhorse Chassis

I own a 2003 Airstream 26' Motorhome on Workhorse chassis 5B4KP57G923 [REDACTED] which continues to give me braking problems similar to those expressed in the recall notice of January 2005 FMC magazine, I spend most of the Summer months in Michigan and there is no heating of the brakes or excess "squealing". This Winter in Florida the heating and noise were more noticeable particularly in traffic/town driving

When I contacted Workhorse in March 2005 they stated the "P" chassis was not covered under the recall. Being somewhat familiar with manufacturing processes I find it difficult to accept that a different brake component was used in the "P" and "W" frames.

Please help me better understand why the "P" chassis was not in the recall.
