Thank you for speaking with me today. Can you take some photos of the floor mat that was in your vehicle and email them to me please? I may need to look at the mat, I'll let you know. Also, I need to get the VIN for your mother's vehicle, can you email that to me too please?

Please double check the mats that are in the vehicle now to make sure they are properly secured in a fashion that absolutely prevents them from getting near the pedals. You should advise your mother to be careful with the mats, and how to react if something like what happened to you occurs again. Please keep me posted.

Tell your wife Happy Birthday.

Drive safely,
Scott
