I have an accessory fuse that keeps blowing in the console of my 2009 Corolla. I have had the fuse replaced several times. As soon as I try it. This causes me a hardship. I can't charge phone, GPS or anything. It is not the phones or GPS. They work fine in other vehicles. I have 2nd thoughts about a Toyota because of this problem. My son has a 2004 model, with this same problem.

(I have reported this problem several times. What can be done)
