Attention U.S. Dept. of Transportation:

Through out my life I have struggled with many mental illnesses; however, in my early twenties my world collapsed.

It began with hallucination of bugs crawling in and out of my skin; I could feel them. As my illness progressed I began hearing disturbing voices/conversations in my head, began communicating and being visited by spaceships, being tormented by ghosts/ghosts trying to possess me, being followed by dead people, etc.

I have been to mental facilities numerous times, and have been through dozens of psychiatrists and therapists. Thus far, no combination of medications has been able to help me; I'm a hopeless case. My current psychiatrist wants to do an MRI of my brain, but I can't because the voices tell me they are going to clone my brain and steal my thoughts.

I began skipping from job to job because of my episodes, problems with severe anxiety, and the side effects of my medications. I applied and was accepted onto Social Security; I could not be more grateful.

As medical bills collected from hospital stays, car repairs added up, food had to be placed on a charge card, and I went without the bare necessities. I maxed out my credit cards and had to apply for bankruptcy. Even with my medical bills liquidated and credit cards/loans dismissed, I can still not make ends meet. I always made up the difference with my credit cards.

My automobile is my only means of transportation to medical appointments, to get prescriptions, and therapy. Currently my car ('99 Cavalier) needs a new serpentine belt, transmission service, radiator service, and fuel pan. I am not sure how much longer I will be able to drive it since it already sometimes emits white smoke through the vents.

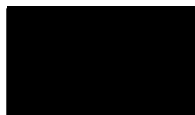

I would appreciate any funding you could give me to help pay for my car repairs.

Please contact me through postal as to if you can help me, thank you.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
