Sir/Mam,

First time I noticed that airbag on my car (passenger side) lighted, I made an appointment to repair it, mechanics told me that have been fixed after a day, but after 3 days airbag light, lighted again, so I went back to our dealer to be fix again. But they told me "maybe the battery" need to be changed, but I told them, I just changed it only few days. I returned back to our dealer, but they never fix it.

until now the passenger airbag light is always on. worried that may on time if needed to function doesn't work at all. I really appreciate if you can recommend that my car to be fix, at the same time for my recall appointment.... Happened when my car still on warranty.

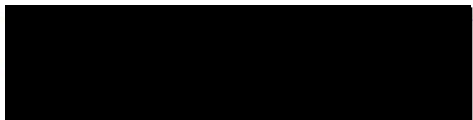

Respectfully
