INFORMATION Redacted PURSUANT TO THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT (FOIA), 5 U.S.C . 552(B)(6)

Dear Administrator,

MAR 10 2016

I have owned my Dodge 3500 since it was purchased new back in 2005 from the Carson City, Nv. Dodge Dealership vn # 3D7MS48CX5G[redacted]. The only problem that I've ever had with it is the air bag lite being stuck on in which I received a related recall notice on shortly after the problem came about. I immediately tried to get it in to the local Dodge dealership here in Reno, Nv and was put on their list. After 6 months of waiting and periodically checking in with them, I finally got it in to correct the problem. After picking my truck up though, the air bag lite came back on within a couple of miles from the dealership leaving me to wonder if the problem was really corrected. I contacted the service dept. right away but they laughed and said that was a separate problem. Since getting my truck back from them last weekend I've now got a new shimmy in the truck and feel the need to get it into an independent repair shop to check the lug nuts and what not. Any suggestions or help?

Sincerely,

[redacted]
