INFORMATION REDACTED PURSUANT TOTHE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT (FOIA), 5 U.S.C.552(B)(6)

[redacted]

January 03, 2010

Re: VIN No. KMHCN46[redacted]

CL-11309232-3145

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration
1200 New Jersey Avenue, SE.
Office of Defects Investigation
(NVS 210)
West Building
Washington, DC 20590

Dear Madam or Sir:

Please read the self-explanatory letter sent to Hyundai Motor America.

It would be great if you would rule a recall for front passenger airbags in 2009 Hyundai Accent cars.

Any advice?

Sincerely yours,

[redacted]

Enclosure: 1.

EA
2-12-20
UD

[redacted]

Re: VIN No. KM[redacted]

[redacted]

Hyundai Motor America
10550 Talbert Avenue
Fountain Valley, California 92728
Attention: Consumer Affairs

Dear Sir or Madam:

The last car I have owned within the last 37 years, my 2009 Hyundai Accent that I bought second-hand 11 years ago, has developed a front passenger air-bag problem (its "off" light is lit in my dashboard's [redacted] within 3 weeks before mileage 124,838. Problem is a mystery and not the fuse. The Hyundai's computer reveals that about 24 other owners of this Hyundai brand have the same air-bag problem. The cost listed for this difficult disability to be fixed can be $600 to $1,800, and there is no recall yet.

I live below Maryland's poverty level and the net income I have reported to the IRS for approximately 16 years has been less than $0. Thus my protective car angels and I would appreciate any help you can send my way to have my car be repaired cheaply or for free for this car I love. I await your advice.

At [redacted] years old, I still look forward to driving me and others in this wonderful, inexpensive car (until I enter Heaven).

Yours truly,

[redacted]

cc: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

[redacted]

BALTIMORE MD 212

27 JAN 2020 PM 5 L

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration
1200 New Jersey Avenue, S.E.
Office of Defects Investigation (NVS-210)
West Building
Washington, DC 20590

20590-