This needed to be a recall then as it was a major safety issue. I went to 2 different mechanics and found out that other people were reporting the same exact problem with this make + model car. Told me that it was the Hydraulic Brake Control Unit and advised me to go to my dealership which I did. They told me that there was no recall but if a recall occurred that I would be reimbursed.

I found out in Dec of 2019 that there is a recall for this exact problem but only for Fusions 2006-2010. Obviously the 2011 Fusion needs to be included. I would like to be reimbursed.
