

OF INFORMATION ACT (FOIA), 5 U.S.C.552(B)(6)

From: [REDACTED]
To: EVOQ \(NHTSA\); [REDACTED]
Cc: NHTSA ODI CRD; [REDACTED]
Subject: ODI-11450092
Date: Friday, February 18, 2022 6:20:26 PM
Attachments: [REDACTED]

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the Department of Transportation (DOT). Do not click on links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe.

[REDACTED]
Subject: 11450092
To: nhtsa.webmaster@dot.gov

Hi. I was hoping if this case may have a similar one than the one I submitted. I know I may be the only one who filed this, but the reason I filed it is because of this article:

[REDACTED]

I am also interested as to where and what happened to the investigation? Honda denies any part of the defect and informed me my car does not qualify any warranty at 93k miles. I believe I am still in that window based on the article. Here are my pictures of the fuel leak:

I was informed the tank had cracked and this is unusual for a lightly driven car. The first signs were gas fumes all over my garage and my whole family thought we had a spill somewhere. I had a local shop check my car and there were no leaks noted. I had 0.5 of the tank filled.

Then, I filled more gas on the car Where really leaked more was then noted. Since it was a safety hazard, I researched more about it while having my car serviced.

How can I escalate this issue? Do gas tanks just break like that?

■

ASRC Federal Holding Company
Quality Control Analyst

7000 Muirkirk Meadows Drive, Beltsville, MD 20705

| Purpose Driven. Enduring Commitment.

other privilege, or otherwise protected from disclosure by law. If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that any retention, dissemination, distribution, or copying of this communication is strictly prohibited. Please reply to the sender that you have received the message in error and destroy the original message and all copies.