Update to concerns and complaints on the 2019 q50 redsport. This car has been deemed to be unsafe and a moving violation due to the car being unable to stay in a straight line while traveling down the road and the car flying across multiple lanes at high speeds when not having a tight grip and constantly pulling the car to the left to stay straight. The only option i had was to sell it to a dealer who is going to green light all these issues and sell it to a auction where it will be red light as i can not legally do a private sell, voluntary repo let alone a dealer can not legally sell it with these major issues. It is most likely a flaw in the design as it is impossible for me to have caused any of the major unsafe issues.

Thank you,
