Please find the attached service records continuing to show Excessive Oil Consumption while required to go through this KIA test again, (first in 2023, now this 2nd set of the same tests)

I've updated the service records showing the update to date outcome for Step 1 (3 qts low) and Step 2 (1 3/4 qts low), both showing excessive oil loss.

I have also notice quite a number of folks posting they must pay for part of their engine replacement, as the power train warranty is only for 100,000 miles. Currently my 2017 Kia Sportage is 95,717 miles.

Thank you

I have the Invoice from which I paid to start the 2nd test, now that the holidays were over and our 2017 Kia Sportage seem to be consuming more oil that the 1st Oil Consumption Test last year.

No leaks have ever been discovered. I have all of the invoices for everything we have paid so far.

Paid $100.61 to start a 2nd Oil Consumption Test.

Start Date: Feb 16 2024

Mileage 93375

RESULTS April 18th 2024

Mileage 94,500 (slightly over 1,000 miles driven)

OIL CONSUMED at a little over 1,000 miles

3.5 quarts of oil consumed

Approx 200 miles over when we were to bring it in. (N/C)

* I made 3 calls to Kia service over 8-10 days to set up a date/time, none of (N/C) my calls were ever returned. I decided to finally just go in because our 1st (N/C) check, April 22, 2024 we were 3 qts low, I can't afford to lose a vehicle that (N/C) holds 5x qts of oil, I wasn't taking a chance if more was lost.

Note: June 5, 2024 Actually stated is 1 3/4 qts low? As our mileage is ticking upwards, I've seen a lot of posts of folks stating Kia is requiring them to pay towards engine replacement since powertrain is only 100,000 miles, period.

 same as 2023 so far, once Chamber cleaning is done, looks like we will be down below 1 quart, yet continue to need to fill oil every 1,000 miles or less.
