Hello counselor I have all of my documentation on how Carmac changed the the year of the model to a 2018 model I guess in hopes to hide the recall and I have documentation from Range Rover themselves starting it is a 2017. Not only yhat the seller changed the entire vin number when I have the original vin number given by the Range Rover dealership. 7 months later , my tires , and my entire under carage fell completely from the bottom of my causing me to almost flip my car over. And as well I have the full blown warrant and they refused to fix it because they said I hit a pot hole when they there are cameras were I was,, sorry for the long reply
