2019 Infiniti QX50 recall item regarding issues with engine....

*On Thursday, [REDACTED] I went to the local Infiniti dealership to have the oil pan reviewed for metal shavings regarding the recall on my suv. They stated "not needed and no shavings". I am not a professional and trust their judgement. However, I have been informed by two professional auto mechanics outside of the Infiniti local shop that they believe the photos DO show metal in the oil pan. I believe my car is due the replacement engine per your recall. I respectfully disagree with the conclusion from the local Infiniti dealership and request for the replacement engine to be put into my suv.

Please respond in writing to my email and/or address.
