Confidential Information

Dear Mr. Cooke:

In accordance with 49 CFR 512.4, enclosed is Toyota's response to NHTSA's September 12, 2007 letter concerning EA06-020, a defect investigation into Toyota Sienna vehicles.

Toyota claims that the single, red-marked portion of the information contained in the one-page document entitled "Attachment-Response 6-1" contains extended warranty sales information that can be used by competitors to calculate Toyota's sales margins on extended warranties, which if released, could cause competitive harm. Toyota requests that this material be treated confidentially for the next ten years (October 17, 2017).

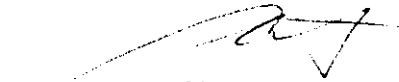

If this request and supporting affidavit are found to be insufficient to establish Toyota's entitlement to confidential treatment, we ask that, pursuant to 49 CFR 512.19, you afford us the opportunity to supplement this request.

Enclosed you will find three sets of the response documents. Per 49 CFR 512, one set of documents contains the complete response including the confidential information, one contains the response with the confidential information removed, and one contains only the confidential information. There is no claim that any of the electronic attachments in our response to the Office of Defects Investigation inquiry contain confidential information, and, as such, they have been removed from your copies of the documents.
