Re: Our Client: Nissan of Thousand Oaks

Dear Mr. Meirs:

This office represents Nissan of Thousand Oaks ("NTO"). We have been asked by our client to assist in resolving its dispute with your dealership.

Specifically, NTO engaged in a "dealer trade" with your dealership on or about May 31, 2006. The subject of this trade was a 2006 Nissan 350Z. This vehicle was equipped by your dealership with after-market chrome wheels.

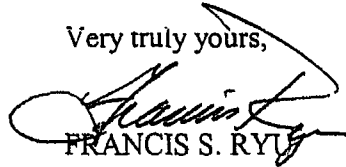

This vehicle arrived at our client's dealership, and was immediately delivered to the buyer. Several weeks thereafter, the chrome wheels broke apart while the buyer and his wife were driving the vehicle at freeway speeds. Luckily, the buyer was able to bring the vehicle to a stop without suffering grievous personal injury. Needless to say, the automobile incurred substantial damage.

A claim was subsequently made to NTO regarding the damage to the vehicle. The claim was for products liability, and was made to NTO since it was in the "stream of commerce." However, the subject vehicle was actually purchased by NTO from your dealership; and the defective wheels were actually placed on the vehicle by your dealership. Thus, your dealership is the culpable party. Despite this indisputable fact, you have refused to respond to NTO's repeated request for indemnity.

Mr. Ricky Meirs

Based thereon, we ask that you contact our office upon receipt of this correspondence to discuss an informal resolution of this dispute. Should you fail to respond by November 7, 2006, we will have no alternative but to file an action against your dealership. We sincerely hope that this will not be necessary, and look forward to hearing from you in the immediate future.

Very truly yours,

FRANCIS S. RYU

AFTERMARKET RECHROMING OF NISSAN ALLOY WHEELS

APPLIED VEHICLE(S): All Models

SERVICE INFORMATION

Nissan Original Equipment or Genuine Accessory Alloy wheels, along with their finish coating (clear, chrome, titanium, etc.), are specifically developed to achieve Nissan design and performance standards. These Original Equipment or Genuine Accessory wheels are also subjected to rigorous testing procedures to ensure they meet Nissan's standards. Nissan cannot ensure that Original Equipment Alloy or Genuine Accessory wheels subjected to aftermarket chroming are not damaged in some way, and that they continue to meet these standards. Therefore, Nissan does not recommend aftermarket chroming of Nissan original equipment Genuine Accessory Alloy wheels or their use.

Nor does Nissan in any way whatsoever warrant or guarantee such wheels or their performance. To the contrary, aftermarket chroming of Nissan original equipment Genuine Accessory Alloy wheels will likely result in denial of any warranty claim.

If Nissan Original Equipment or Genuine Accessory Alloy wheels are subjected to aftermarket chroming, problems may occur as a result of the chroming process, including:

1. The chroming process generally removes the original finish by "burning" or "chemical" methods, both of which may cause the heat treatment of the alloy to be changed. The application of chrome plating has to be controlled correctly, as the alloy can be harmed by a poorly controlled process.
2. Aftermarket chroming may degrade the durability, long term appearance, and may affect safety and performance of the wheels.

Accordingly, Nissan strongly recommends that Original Equipment or Genuine Accessory Alloy wheels not be modified by processes such as aftermarket chrome plating.

Please consult the Nissan Warranty Policies and Procedures Manual pertaining to the Dealer's responsibility when altering or modifying vehicles.

Technical service bulletins (TSBs) are issued by NISSAN to assist technicians with diagnosis and repair. TSBs address specific concerns or conditions such as rough idles, noises and rattles. These specific concerns can be the result of customer or repair shop feedback. The TSB for a specific concern or condition will provide an up-to-date engineering-approved vehicle modification, repair procedure or service part.

The Original Equipment Alloy wheels on Nissan vehicles are specifically developed in order to achieve the Nissan design and performance standards. These original equipment wheels are also subjected to rigorous testing procedures to ensure they meet Nissan's standards. Nissan ensure that wheels subjected to aftermarket chroming of the Original Equipment Alloy wheels meets these same standards, and therefore Nissan does not recommend their use, or guarantee their performance. See this bulletin for further detail.
