Mr. Ansley,

I am confused what I am to do with this notification. ProAir handled this many months ago and I am unsure if something has changed and causing this to be brought up again.

To clarify our position, ProAir does not manufacture motor vehicles. We were a distributor of Carrier product at the time of the recall. We simply sold the Carrier products to vehicle upfitters. These upfitters were all notified and in many cases we actually helped them process the recall. When I received the notification, I worked with Rob Picker from Carrier.

Please let me know what has changed in regards to this recall and I will help any way I can.
