

Chevrolet Malibu Eco, Buick Regal eAssist, Buick LaCrosse - eAssist System

7,457 Unsold Vehicles

U.S. – 7,390 Canada – 65 China - 2

Cost Estimate: $2.1M

N-120238

Condition:

Certain 2012-2013 model year vehicles with the eAssist system were built with a Battery Power Inverter Module (BPIM)¹ that may not function properly.

Effect of the Condition:

The vehicle may gradually lose battery charge, which will illuminate the MIL and ultimately result in an engine stall/no-start condition. Evidence of thermal events within the metal-encased BPIM have also been observed in field returned parts.

Suspect Population:

Suspect VIN list is based on BPIM build dates of two suspect lots, BPIM PCM is not directly traceable to VIN.

Technical Root Cause:

Shorting between layers of the multi-layer circuit board. Shorting of a toroidal inductor winding to a PCB.

Responsibility: Supplier (GMCH)

Frequency: 10% @ 90 days

Potential Field Action Category: Service Update (unsold only)

¹ – Known as Generator Control Module in Service Parts List

Chevrolet Malibu Eco, Buick Regal eAssist, Buick LaCrosse - eAssist System

Potential Field Remedy:

Screen unsold vehicles with procedure that includes drive and two hour idle time to thermally exercise the BPIM to induce condition. For any vehicles that exhibit condition as a result, replace Generator Control Module with service part of same part number with Julian date code > 2180 (June 28, 2012).

Discovery:

The issue was discovered from analysis of warranty parts returned.

Current Status:

Design change in the BPIM has been implemented, first vehicle builds on Aug 14.

Immediate Improvement /Containment:

Upon discovery of the issue, a build stop order was issued. TWO/EWOs were developed to revised the BPIM design by adding an additional pre-preg layer between copper layers 1L, 2L and 7L,8L. Supplier sorting of toroid inductors implemented with go/no-go gage. Vehicle screening test used for vehicles held at assembly plants prior to shipping.

2012 – 2013 Malibu, Regal, LaCrosse – eAssist – Cap Board

TBD Vehicles (or less if mileage / days in use limits are used)

U.S. – TBD Canada – TBD

N-130136

Condition:

Certain eAssist vehicles were built with a generator control module BPIM that may not function properly. A shorting between layers of the multi-layer “cap circuit board”, or on the “power circuit board” may cause the loss of battery charge and/or MIL illumination. If loss of battery charge occurs, the vehicle will operate solely from 12V battery power, and the red battery indicator light will illuminate. The battery saver system starts reducing certain features of the vehicle that the driver might notice and BATTERY SAVER ACTIVE will appear in the DIC(Driver information system). If the vehicle continues to operate with the BAS system disabled, the 12V battery will eventually discharge and vehicle will stall or will not start.

Effect of the Condition:

The vehicle may gradually lose battery charge, which will illuminate the MIL and ultimately result in an engine stall/no-start condition. A thermal event within the metal-encased BPIM that may extend to the surrounding trunk trim may also occur.

Suspect Population:

All vehicles built from SOP to the targeted implementation of a new “cap circuit board” in Jan, 2013 are suspect.

Technical Root Cause:

Shorting between layers of the multi-layer “cap circuit board”

The Elements of eAssist™

- 15-kW belt-driven induction motor/generator
- Engine accessory drive with a patented dual tensioner
- Air cooled power electronics integrated with a compact, light-weight 115-V lithium-ion battery pack
- Direct-injection 2.4 liter 4-cylinder gasoline engine and slightly modified 6-speed automatic transmission
- Specific features to reduce road load, which work synergistically with the eAssist™ propulsion system to maximize regenerative braking:
 - Low-rolling resistance tires
 - Underbody aero panels
 - Actively controlled grill shutters

How Does eAssist™ Save Fuel?

2012 LaCrosse 2.4L Ecotec with eAssist™ Technology

- Smooth engine stop/start
- Regenerative braking
- Full deceleration fuel cut-off
- Electric boost to maintain acceleration and gradeability with more efficient axle ratio

eAssist+: BPIM/APM PCB Failures

Summary:

- Vehicles with this condition are equipped with eAssist (RPO LUK) specifically the 2012 Buick Regal, 2012-2013 Buick LaCrosse, and 2013 Chevrolet Malibu Eco).
- All eAssist vehicles have a Powerpack which contains a Battery Power Inverter Module (BPIM) / Accessory Power Module (APM).
- The BPIM/APM contains three multi-layered Printed Circuit Boards (PCBs).
- A PCB is a multilayered component comprised of conductive and insulating layers which provides electrical connections and mechanical support.
- Under certain unique conditions a PCB can have an inner layer short created due to material and manufacturing variation, which can cause a PCB power layer to inadvertently make electrical contact with an adjacent ground layer, disabling the BPIM/APM.

Some Characteristics of the Isolation Fault

- Most parts with single-layer design appear to have no issue and are not expected to fail or have reduced reliability in service
- When a failure occurs, it results in eventual loss of 12-V power (walk-home)
- Many cases happen without noticeable symptoms, but others can exhibit some odor, smoke, soot, etc.
- Failures generally consistent with infant mortality – typically < 100 miles, nearly all < 1000 miles
- But a few cases have occurred at higher mileage (up to 20-30k mi)
- Requires thermal stress to manifest
- Difficult to screen at a part level
- 3-hour dealer screening procedure implemented to address unsold vehicles has proven very effective at weeding out susceptible BPIMs, but is not 100% effective

eAssist BPIM Isolation Fault Timeline (Draft)

- July 5, 2011 – SGM vehicle with shorted APM output
- November 2011 – First failure in field for shorted APM output
- January 2012 – Second TAC case for isolation related issues
- March 2012 – Thermal event in Fairfax LQ68414112056516
- March 2012 - SGM TAC that an E11 eAssist in one Beijing dealership had a burned fuse #23.
- Design review indicated PCB best practices not followed (double layer insulation,..)
- May/June 2012 - Spike in TAC cases for isolation related issues
- July/August – Escalation of issue due to increased rate in the field
- August 8, 2012 – 20 minute conditioning screen added at GMCH (sample basis)
- August 2012 – Power board ‘Option 1’ changes implemented at GMCH
- Vehicle screening at the assembly plants
- October 19, 2012 - Service bulletin 12238 issued to screen ‘limited’ population (7,166)
- October 24, 2012 – Thermal event during vehicle screening (cap board)
- November 14, 2012 - Stop build / ship order issued, all vehicles screened prior to shipping
- November 15, 2012 - Service bulletin 12238B updated to expand vehicle population (22,908)
- January 10, 2013 – Service bulletin 12238C updated to include 2013 LaCrosse/Regal part number
- January 16, 2013 – All BPIM PCBs (cap and control boards) have double layer insulation
- February 13, 2013 – Service bulletin 12238D updated to include new parts and clarify instructions
- March 25, 2013 – Letter from customer requesting a buy-back due to a thermal incident

Service Bulletin (Excerpts)

SUBJECT: Service Update for Inventory Vehicles Only
Loss of Battery Charge – Inspect Generator Control Module
Expires October 31, 2013

MODELS: 2012 Buick Regal
2012-2013 Buick LaCrosse
2013 Chevrolet Malibu Eco
Equipped with eAssist

*The Caution Statement in the service procedure has been revised to the following: Caution: The service procedure contained in this bulletin is intended to fully stress the generator control module beyond normal customer use. This stress, in rare cases, may result in smoke and thermal damage to the generator control module. For the extended idle portion of the service procedure (Steps 8 and 12), the vehicle should be located outdoors, with the right rear seat back down, and with the location of the power pack in view of an observer in the left rear seat during the complete idle portion. Do not remove any trim panels. If smoke is observed or smelled, even a trace level, or a popping or unusual noise is heard from the power pack, immediately turn off the engine and exit the vehicle. Disconnect the 12V battery and observe for 10 minutes, then contact TAC.

Please discard all copies of bulletin 12238, issued October 2012.

This service update involves vehicles in dealer inventory only and will expire October 31, 2013.

PURPOSE

This bulletin provides a service procedure to inspect and replace, if necessary, the Generator Control Module (GCM) on certain 2012 model year Buick Regal, 2012-2013 model year Buick LaCrosse, and 2013 model year Chevrolet Malibu Eco vehicles, equipped with eAssist. The GCM may not function properly, resulting in the gradual loss of battery charge, illumination of the MIL, and eventual engine stall or no start condition.

DEALER PROGRAM RESPONSIBILITY

Dealers must take the steps necessary to ensure that the service update correction has been made to all involved vehicles in dealer inventory before selling or dealer-trading the vehicle, but no later than October 31, 2013.

PCB board construction - Definitions

Tg – Glass Transition Temperature; The temperature at which the resin changes from a glass-like state to an amorphous state changing its mechanical behavior, i.e. expansion rate

Dk – Permittivity, Relative Dielectric Constant; The property of a material that impedes the transmission of a electromagnetic wave. The lower the relative dielectric constant, the closer the performance of the material to that of air. This property is critical to matching the impedance requirements of certain transmission lines.

Df – Loss Tangent; The property of a material that describes how much of the energy transmitted is absorbed by the material. The greater the loss tangent, the larger the energy absorption into the material. This property directly impacts the signal attenuation at high speeds.

Thermal Overheat of PowerPack Assy during #12238 procedure. Visited dealer and found that there was a thermal overheat within powerpack assy. Powerpack case has a sort of corrosion look on the exterior, it is believed this is from vaporized electrolyte as a result of powerpack overheat. It appears the actual overheat occurred within the Starter/Generator Control module itself as the soot from smoke is isolated to the SGCM. There was very slight damage to the wire harness going to SCGM but was isolated to the tape on harness. Harness appears to be able to be repaired by new tape on exterior of harness. Slight charred area on inside of powerpack trim covering but no visible issues on outside/beauty side of trim. There is no smoke smell inside vehicle, only a slight chemical smell possibly from battery electrolyte. Another note, there is no soot on fan cage or inside fan housing at all, indicating that the fan was possibly not running at the time of overheat.

Technician called and was following the service update 12238C. Technician states saw some smoke and had some odor from the battery pack assembly, has codes U0293 and U1817. Advise dealer to check the F23UA 7.5a and F73UA 175a fuses, check for arcing on the actual battery assembly and then remove the cover of the battery assembly and check for arcing inside the battery assembly and the inside of the battery pack cover. Tech has found the 7.5a F23UA fuse open, found no arcing and only a brown area underneath the vehicle harness connection at the battery assembly. Advise dealer that I would send a request to have the GCM sent to the dealer per PIP4920J, charge and test the 12v battery, program the GCM, command the battery pack fan on and replace if inoperative, perform the service update 12238C again to verify the repair.

Dealer Comments/Diagnosis (DTC's, What's Been Done): Technician stated vehicle was a dealer trade and that's why it has mileage on car. Car is currently dealer owned. Smoke occurred during the two hour idle test step 12 and was 30-40 minutes into it. The SGCM x1x2x3 wiring has heat stress and melting on them. Technician states there is some film on the Right Rear area by the RR seatbelt but thinks it can be cleaned off. When asked if there was arcing inside of pack, technician stated hard to tell with all the soot but there appears to be some heat stress terminals and possible melting of the wiring. Technician stated has removed the battery pack cover and has a lot of soot and odors inside of pack. Technician stated also has the 3 connectors to the SGCM x1 x2 x3, the blue, green, and black, have melted insulation on these connectors.

The SM states that they were performing 13136 on this vehicle

The SM states that they had smoke and a electrical odor. So he states in the customer best interest he states that they used a gcm module for another vehicle on this vehicle. The Clint states he is not sure however what the vin number is to the vehicle he used the module from when asked

The SM states he had a u phase over temp code and a cooling fan code he did not have the number for either code

The SM states that he needs a module to replace the one that he installed on this vehicle

TAC Recommendations:

I did find out that they used a part number 24267940 on the vehicle

Suggested that the call with the next vin that they are requesting a GCM for and we can request a GCM to verify they have the correct part number.

Called dealer and spoke to Bill Reilly States that the SGCM was replaced with PN 24267940 and he ran the 12238 drive cycle to verify the repair but there was an odor and smoke noticed from the trunk. He now has no communication with the HPCM or BECM. He claims he is selecting "LUK" engine RPO on GDS2.

Tech is busy working on other jobs until later. This vehicle is not customer owned yet and is in the used car dept.

Customer Concern

Died while driving down the road.

Dealer Comments/Diagnosis (DTC s, What s Been Done):

The dealer advised that he had to replace the 12 volt battery because it was not able to pass charging and testing.

The dealer advised that the customer stated that they smelt smoke while driving and then after checking the trunk area the vehicle stopped running and was completely dead on the side of the road.

The dealer advised that the trunk does smell like smoke at this time as well.

TAC Recommendations:

TAC advised the dealer to verify that the GDS2 was build correctly with the LUK engine selected and then will need to retest for codes.
