The Office of Defects Investigation (ODI) has received several response extension requests from manufacturers pertaining to peer information request for EA14-002, concerning Kia Sorento sunroof breakage. The requests are detailed below.

Hyundai requested a two-week extension for questions 7 and 8 to allow for the translation of documents received from Korea. Questions 1-6 will be sent by or before the original due date of August 22, 2014.

Nissan is requesting a two-week extension on all materials for the peer IR. The response requires technical information that will have to be retrieved from Japan whose offices have been on summer shutdown, and are currently just returning. Additionally, they have had to devote numerous hours to the launch of the recall lookup function on their webpages, as well as responding to several pre-existing information requests from ODI. Nissan will provide their response by September 5, 2014.
