Subject: Request for Confidentiality, 49 CFR Part 512 – Response to Follow-up
 AEB Response PE23017

Dear Mr. Rabinovitz:

Volkswagen Group of America, Inc. (“Volkswagen”) is submitting information to NHTSA’s Office of Chief Counsel in response to follow-up questions to AEB Response to PE 23017.

Volkswagen requests that the documents identified below be afforded confidential treatment and be protected from release to the public pursuant to 49 C.F.R. Part 512 and Exemption 4 of the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(4), (“FOIA Exemption 4”). The documents contain information that would cause substantial competitive harm and is not information customarily released to the public. 49 C.F.R. § 512.15(b), (e), 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(4). Under applicable case law, information is protected under FOIA Exemption 4 if the information was provided under an assurance of privacy and the information is customarily held private or closely held by the submitter. Food Marketing Institute v. Argus Leader Media, 139 S. Ct. 2356, 2363 (2019). Volkswagen also notes that certain documents may contain personally identifiable information that should be withheld from public disclosure pursuant to FOIA Exemption 6. 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6).

Volkswagen is providing the below information under assurances that the information is private as NHTSA has provided no “express or implied indications” that it will publicly disclose the information. Argus Leader, 139 S. Ct. at 2363. From experience, Volkswagen understands that NHTSA’s practice is to treat information as confidential that is submitted in response to Information Requests from the Agency during the course of an investigation. This practice is particularly true in cases where the submitter treats the information as confidential, release of the information would cause substantial competitive harm to the submitter, and is information not customarily released. In this instance, Volkswagen treats this information as confidential, is the type of information customarily kept private, and has not been released to outside parties. Further, given the technical details, internal design, and testing standards and results, release of such documents to the public would cause substantial competitive harm to Volkswagen.

The following documents, and documents contained within the provided folders, are the subject of this request:

In accordance with NHTSA's instructions in the Information Request, Volkswagen is submitting redacted "public versions" of this submission to the secure file link. Please note that Volkswagen has only provided the native, German documents in confidential form. Volkswagen translated these documents into English. To the extent there are conflicts or difference in interpretations caused by translation, the original German documents shall prevail.

Volkswagen is requesting subject documents be granted confidential treatment for a period of ten (10) years. If a request for disclosure of any or all of this information is received by NHTSA, Volkswagen respectfully requests notification of each such request and, if necessary, an opportunity to further explain the reasons why such materials are entitled to protection from release under FOIA.

A Certificate in Support of this Request for Confidentiality is attached.
