Re: Request for Confidential Treatment of Business Information Submitted Regarding RQ24-001

Dear Mr. Donaldson:

FCA US LLC (f/k/a Chrysler Group LLC) ("FCA US") is submitting information to the NHTSA Office of Defects Investigation ("ODI") in connection with the above-referenced investigation.

Based on a careful review of this information, FCA US has determined that some of the information is confidential and should be accorded confidential treatment under this agency's regulations at 49 C.F.R. Part 512 and Exemption 4 of the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(4). Therefore, FCA US is submitting the information via secure file transfer, together with this request for confidential treatment and Certificate in Support of Request for Confidentiality, to the Office of Chief Counsel.

The information required by Part 512 is set forth below.

A. Description of the Information (49 C.F.R. § 512.8(a))

The business information for which confidential treatment is being sought is described in the enclosed table found in Appendix A.

B. Confidentiality Standard (49 C.F.R. § 512.8(b))

Prior to the Supreme Court's decision in Food Marketing Institute v. Argus Leader Media, 139 S. Ct. 2356 (2019), this submission would have been subject to the confidentiality standard set forth in 49 C.F.R. § 512.15(b) for information that the submitter is required to submit to the agency. The standard for confidential treatment is now set forth in Food Marketing Institute, 139 S. Ct. at 2366.

C. Justification for Confidential Treatment (49 C.F.R. § 512.8(c))

FOIA Exemption 4 precludes the disclosure of "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential." 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(4). The information for which FCA US is seeking confidential treatment is clearly "commercial" because it relates to commercial terms in service contracts and the testing and specifications of products that FCA US offers for sale. See, e.g., Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Export-Import Bank, 108 F. Supp. 2d 19, 28 (D.D.C.

2000). FCA US also is a “person” under the case law governing Exemption 4. See, e.g., id.

In Food Marketing Institute, the Supreme Court held that information is “confidential” within the meaning of FOIA Exemption 4 when it is “both customarily and actually treated as private by its owner and provided to the government under an assurance of privacy.” 139 S. Ct. at 2366.

FCA US customarily and actually treats the information for which confidential treatment is being requested as private. FCA US makes this information available only to employees, agents, and suppliers who require the information to perform their duties for FCA US and who receive the information with the understanding of their obligations to maintain its confidentiality.

With regard to assurances of privacy, the Supreme Court expressly declined to hold that an assurance is, in fact, a necessary condition for confidentiality. Id. at 2363. Nor did the Court describe the nature of the “assurances” to which it referred.

In considering the question of assurances, the United States District Court for the District of Columbia repeatedly has concluded that an assurance of confidentiality is not required under D.C. Circuit precedent. See Naumes v. Dep’t of the Army, 2022 WL 594541, at *8 (D.D.C. Mar. 1, 2022) (“This Circuit does not require assurances of privacy as a separate component of confidentiality, and this Court will not ‘read the word “confidential” to impose a blanket requirement that the government provide an assurance of privacy in every case in which it asserts Exemption 4.’”) (quoting Renewable Fuels Ass’n v. EPA, 519 F. Supp. 3d 1, 12 (D.D.C. 2021)); Cause of Action Inst. v. Export-Import Bank of the U.S., 2022 WL 252028, at *18 (D.D.C. Jan. 27, 2022) (stating that the Supreme Court did not resolve whether assurances are a mandatory element of confidentiality under Exemption 4, and “this Court has since explained that binding Circuit precedent compels an answer in the negative”); Renewable Fuels, 519 F. Supp. 3d at 12 (declining to require proof of an assurance of confidentiality). At most, according to the D.C. district court, an assurance is “relevant but not strictly required.” See Wilson v. FCC, 2022 WL 4245485, at *7 (D.D.C. Sept. 15, 2022) Indeed, “[i]f anything, courts here have taken the position that privately held information is generally confidential absent an express statement by the agency that it would not keep information private, or a clear implication to that effect (for example, a history of releasing the information at issue).” Id. at *10 (internal quotation marks omitted).

Moreover, even if an assurance of some kind were required under Food Marketing Institute, such an assurance need not take the form of a promise by an agency to protect the confidentiality of confidential business information. Although a promise of confidentiality was involved in Food Marketing Institute, in ordinary speech, an actual promise need not be made for information to be communicated “under an assurance of privacy.”

The Department of Justice Office of Information Policy (“OIP”) recognized that fact in guidance concerning Food Marketing Institute. Specifically, OIP instructed agencies that an express assurance of confidentiality is not required. See Exemption 4 After the Supreme Court’s Ruling in Food Marketing Institute v. Argus Leader Media, <https://www.justice.gov/oip/exemption-4-aftersupreme-courts-ruling-food-marketing-institute-v-argus-leader-media>, at 5 (second paragraph in subsection headed “Second Condition – Assurance of Confidentiality by Government”) (“[A]n assurance of confidentiality can be either explicit or implicit.”).

As the OIP guidance explains, past agency practice with regard to similar information can suffice for establishing an “implied assurance” of confidentiality. See id. (second paragraph under subsection headed “Implied Assurance”) (“Factors to consider include the government’s treatment of similar information For example, an agency’s long history of protecting certain commercial or financial information can serve as an implied assurance to submitters that the agency will continue treating their records in the same manner.”).

Similarly, in Center for Medical Progress v. U.S. Dep’t of Health & Human Servs., 2022 WL 4016617 (D.D.C. Sept. 3, 2022), the court found that there were “implied” assurances of confidentiality (slip op. at *11) based, first, on a government declaration stating that the putative Exemption 4 information had been “‘routinely withheld at [the National Institutes of Health (“NIH”)] and other agencies . . . precisely in recognition of the commercial sensitivity of the information,’” and, second, on a submitter declaration indicating the submitter’s understanding of and reliance upon NIH’s standard practices (id.; quoting declaration).

Because the Critical Mass voluntary submission standard now governs all submissions of information in the D.C. Circuit (see Renewable Fuels Ass’n, 519 F. Supp. 3d at 12), NHTSA’s prior practice with regard to voluntary submissions provides the relevant standard for whether NHTSA’s past practice provides an assurance of privacy—if an assurance is required at all. In the context of voluntary submissions, NHTSA has consistently accorded confidential treatment to the kinds of records that are being submitted today—that is, tests, service contract summaries, and analysis summaries and descriptions.

Moreover, much of the information that FCA US is submitting today would have qualified for confidential treatment under the substantial-competitive-harm standard that was superseded by Food Marketing Institute. Analyses, tests, investigations, and evaluations would, if disclosed, apprise competitors of FCA US’s operational capabilities and enable them to replicate FCA US’s procedures and methodologies without incurring the substantial costs associated with independent development of these procedures and methodologies. Similarly, the release of testing information would enable competitors to develop their own testing capabilities at a fraction of the investments in time and money that would be required for independent development. The designs, diagrams, materials, and specification information contained in these documents would also enable competitors to evaluate and replicate FCA US’s designs, materials, and specifications. Summaries of numbers of service contracts sold could be invaluable to entities that compete in the after-market against FCA US. All of these damaging results of a release of such information have been deemed sufficient to establish substantial competitive harm in the past, when that standard applied.

The competitive harm that would result from a disclosure of the information also is relevant to the reasonable foreseeability of the harm that would result from a disclosure. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(8)(A)(i)(I). In the post-Food Marketing Institute context, reasonably foreseeable harms sufficient to justify withholding under FOIA Exemption 4 include impairment of the legitimate commercial, financial, business, or research interests of the submitter. See Naumes, 2022 WL 594541, at *10.

Accordingly, the confidential treatment of the information that FCA US is submitting is warranted because that information is both customarily and actually treated as private by FCA US and is being provided to the government with an assurance of privacy derived from the expectation that NHTSA will continue its past practice—established both in the voluntary- and compelled-submission contexts—of not disclosing confidential commercial information of the kind at issue here.
