Today 9:05 AM

Good morning [REDACTED] it's Antonio from Chevrolet. Just an update for you for this morning. Lotta activity the past couple days here with your truck. Reply STOP to OptOut.

We had three engineers here yesterday, looking at your vehicle so they took a lot of data from the download what we did the past couple days with the Technician. They also asked Technician to do different things yesterday which is compression check, leak down check, replaced the ignition wires, one more time and replace the spark plugs one more time.

So they're still not decided either a computer or a possible wiring connector issue may be the cause of this slight misfire the vehicle hazard at the moment. It is triggering to check engine light as well.

So now we're waiting until they get back to us. I don't think it's gonna be today and it's a possible chance for tomorrow, but let's circle back on Monday with an update.
