

Team,

An influential content creator ([REDACTED]) reached out asking for help for [REDACTED] of his acquaintances, who is also a content creator/podcaster ([REDACTED]).

[REDACTED] has a brother ([REDACTED]) who has a health condition. See screen grabs below (one is a tweet from [REDACTED] and the other is a text from [REDACTED] to [REDACTED], when I asked for more details). It appears it is the 2nd time the vehicle has broken down. I believe they are located in [REDACTED], if that helps.

Can we please reach out quickly and let's do what we can to help out in this situation, please.

to , i've had many ask for an update on brother situation:

we've hit a pretty odd hiccup and are actually desperate to find a connection in the front office at GM, namely getting ahold of anyone at GMC.

it's an odd one, but we're searching for answers!

In brief, while transporting [REDACTED], the family's GMC truck blew its motor.

Luckily, the local GMC place admitted fault and ensured the company will cover the repairs, giving the truck back on [REDACTED].

In the meantime, though, the regional office cannot override the following policy without help from the higher-ups: GMC cannot cover a rental car or hotel fees for the duration between now and the repair.

So... they're stranded with poor [REDACTED], trying to get a vehicle or hotel room and answers!
