Your Vehicle Identification Number: 12345678901234567

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

We apologize for this situation and want to assure you that, with your assistance, we will correct this condition. Our commitment, together with Ford dealers, is to provide you with the highest level of service and support.

What is the issue?

The Injector Pressure Regulator (IPR) connector on your vehicle may corrode as a result of moisture being retained by the heat shield around the connector. This condition could result in various engine performance concerns including: running rough, difficult or unable to be started, and/or engine stalling.

What will Ford and your dealer do?

Ford Motor Company has authorized your dealer to inspect your IPR connector and replace it as necessary. The dealer will also replace the original heat shield with an aluminized shield that allows water drainage. This service will be performed free of charge (parts and labor).

How long will it take?

The time needed for these repairs is less than one day. However, due to service scheduling requirements, your dealer may need your vehicle for a longer period of time. In addition, your vehicle will require inspection prior to determining if additional parts need to be ordered.
