National Highway Traffic Safety Administration assigned Recall #: 07V-342
General Motors Corporation Recall Campaign #: 07177

Customer Name
Customer Address

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

General Motors Corporation has decided that a defect, which relates to motor vehicle safety, exists on certain 2007 Model Year Chevrolet Express vehicles. U.S. Bus Corporation has produced vehicles on the General Motors Express chassis.

What the safety concern is:

When the brakes on your vehicle are applied, the stop lamps will illuminate. When the brake pedal is released, the stop lamps are no longer illuminated but the rear brakes may still be applied. The brake may release after a few seconds or after the next firm brake pedal application. If the rear brakes are still applied after release of the brake pedal, you may notice a substantial drag when driving and may need to depress the gas pedal further than usual to continue vehicle movement. A vehicle driven with the brakes applied can cause overheating of the brakes, resulting in increased stopping distance, which could result in a vehicle crash.
