TO THE CREDITORS:

Please be advised that Weekend Warrior Trailers, Inc., executed a general assignment for the benefit of its creditors in favor of CMA Business Credit Services ("Assignee") on July 18, 2008. Subsequently, on July 21, 2008, Rage'N, Inc., and Warrior Manufacturing, Inc., each made general assignments to the Assignee. The assignments were undertaken by the directors and shareholders of the Companies, based upon advice of legal counsel and exhaustion of working capital whereby the businesses were unable to fund their operations.

A general assignment is a common law means of concluding the affairs of an insolvent debtor as an alternative to the Chapter 7 Bankruptcy procedure. Experience has demonstrated that the recovery for assets is usually much greater in an assignment, and administrative expenses tend to be lower when compared to the average bankruptcy liquidation.

Creditors will find enclosed a form Proof of Claim to file their claim with this office. Creditors should be aware that pursuant to California law¹, the last date to return your Proof of Claim form to this office is January 15, 2009. You must return the Proof of Claim by that date in order to ensure your participation in any distribution of funds generated to unsecured creditors from the liquidation of the Companies.

A further report on the status of the Assignee's liquidation of assets, including a statement of assets and liabilities, will follow in approximately 30 days. You will be advised if any significant developments occur in the interim.

Very truly yours,

Michael L. Joncich
