Safety Recall #07E-106 – Hub Assembly Recall Technician Service Instructions

Federal-Mogul has determined that a defect which relates to motor vehicle safety exists concerning certain wheel hub assemblies sold as replacement parts only. Therefore, Federal-Mogul voluntarily recalls the following National® and CARQUEST® Premium (BGS/Blue) wheel hub assembly part numbers sold beginning with the dates noted below.

The hub assembly's inboard retention nut used to maintain the hub bearing assembly can loosen, resulting in an ABS light indication, noise, and/or wheel separation from the vehicle. Wheel separation can result in a vehicle crash.

For the listed vehicles, visual inspection can be performed and determination may be made to confirm whether or not the suspect hub assemblies have been installed. For proper identification, 1A. On 4x4 vehicles, while the vehicle is parked on the ground, remove decorative chrome wheel trim (if present). Remove retaining ring clip from outboard end of hub. Pull hub lock mechanism outward to remove – this may require some wiggling of the part but NO TOOLS should be used during this particular task. Observe a yellow, green or blue paint mark at the bottom of the hub lock cavity in hub (Figure 1). If the paint mark is present, the hub assembly is good. Reverse the above procedure for installation. Refer to the Ford service manual for additional information on service procedures of hub locks. If the paint mark is not present, raise vehicle on an approved hoist and go to step 2.

1B. On 2x4 vehicles, the inspection requires vehicle to be raised on an approved hoist first. The hub assembly is good if a yellow, green or blue paint mark is observed on the grease cap located on the inboard side of the steering knuckle (Figure 2). Wipe the grease cap clean for proper viewing. If the paint mark is not present, go to step 2.

2. Remove wheel.
3. Remove brake rotor.
4. Clean rust from hub assembly face (Figure 3) to check for the date code stamping (Figure 4).

If the identified hub assembly has been installed on a vehicle, Federal-Mogul will stand behind any appropriately documented inspection or labor claim which may result from this safety recall.

For proper reimbursement of inspection, or product and labor, please contact your Federal-Mogul sales representative.

To assist you with customer notification, Product Safety Recall postcards, Form# N073070, are available from Federal-Mogul. For additional information, contact your local sales representative or call 1-877-489-6659 (within the United States) and a Federal-Mogul representative will assist you. Canadian technicians may call 1-800-268-7445.

Product Safety Recall

Campaign #07E-106

Federal-Mogul Corporation has announced a safety recall on specific National® and CARQUEST® Premium (BGS/Blue) wheel hub assemblies sold beginning with the dates noted inside. The inboard retention nut used to maintain the hub bearing assembly can loosen, resulting in an ABS light indication, noise, and/or wheel separation from the vehicle. Wheel separation can result in a vehicle crash. This recall is limited to part numbers, their respective applications, and product date codes for the dates noted inside.

For the listed vehicles on the chart inside, visual inspection can be performed and determination may be made to confirm whether or not the suspect hub assemblies have been installed.

For proper identification:

Product Safety Recall

JANUARY 2008

Dear Valued Customer:

Campaign #07E-106

Federal-Mogul has announced a safety recall on specific wheel end hub assemblies sold beginning January 23, 2006.

Vehicle service records indicate you may have had a recalled hub assembly installed as a replacement part during the subject period. To properly determine if a recalled hub assembly was installed, we ask that you make an appointment with our service department for a free inspection. The inspection will involve removing the front wheel and front brake rotor to view the product date code, and hub assembly replacement if necessary. The inspection will take approximately one hour. Hub assembly replacement will require additional time.

For further information, please contact our service department or call the Federal-Mogul customer hotline at 1-877-489-6659 for hub assembly recall information within the United States. Canadian customers may call 1-800-268-7445.
