RE: Recall P045 - Rotary Coupler Wiring Fracture
Vehicles Affected: Land Rover LR3 and Range Rover Sport
Model Year: 2005 - 2006

Dear Land Rover Owner,

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act. Land Rover has decided that a defect which relates to motor vehicle safety exists in certain 2005-2006 model year LR3 and 2006 model year Range Rover Sport vehicles. Your vehicle is part of this Recall action.

What is the concern?

Through ongoing quality data analysis, Land Rover has identified a concern on a number of 2005 - 2006 model year LR3 and 2006 model year Range Rover Sport vehicles built between November 2004 & December 2005 where the supplementary restraints system (SRS) warning light may illuminate.

The wiring that connects the rotary coupler to the driver's air bag module may fracture leading to an intermittent open circuit as a result of relative motion between the rotary coupler and the steering wheel hub. The SRS warning lamp will illuminate when circuit high resistance is detected by the supplementary restraints system. In the event of a collision of sufficient severity, the driver's airbag may not deploy correctly, increasing the risk of injuries to the driver.

Vehicle safety for normal use is not compromised. The SRS is, as its name suggests, supplementary. The primary safety system is the correct use of the seat belts. The SRS is only called into operation when there is a collision of sufficient severity. This condition is unique to the driver's airbag; no other aspect of the SRS is impacted. The SRS warning lamp notifies the driver of a potential concern with the SRS and the driver is strongly advised to seek Retailer assistance should the SRS or any other warning lamp be illuminated. All vehicle occupants should use the seat belts fitted or approved child restraints in the case of babies and younger children.

What will Land Rover and your Land Rover Retailer do?

An authorized Land Rover Retailer will perform a modification to improve the alignment of the steering column switch mounting platform and to provide assured clearance between the cowl and the rotary coupler face. Retailers will also be instructed to inspect the rotary coupler's drive peg sleeve and, if necessary, replace with the latest ribbed design. The work will be carried out free of charge.

What should you do?

Please contact your Retailer at your earliest convenience to schedule an appointment to have Recall P045 completed on your vehicle.

How long will it take?

The repair process should take no longer than half an hour, although your vehicle may be required for a longer time due to service scheduling requirements.

Attention Leasing Agencies:

Federal regulations require that you forward this Recall notification to the lessee within TEN days.
