

Dear General Motors Customer:

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

General Motors has decided that certain 2006, 2007, and 2008 model year Chevrolet HHR vehicles fail to conform to Federal/Canada Motor Vehicle Safety Standard 201, Occupant Protection in Interior Impact. As a result, GM is conducting a recall. We apologize for this inconvenience. However, we are concerned about your safety and continued satisfaction with our products, and strongly urge you to complete this recall.

I M P O R T A N T

- Your Chevrolet HHR is involved in recall 08157.
- Install the enclosed bracket, if necessary.
or
- If the bracket is required, bring the bracket to your Chevrolet dealer and it will be installed at no charge.

Why is your vehicle being recalled?

In a vehicle similar to yours, the instrument panel was struck by a test device at one location and the storage bin door opened. If this were to occur in a vehicle crash, it could increase an occupant's injuries.

What will we do?

We have enclosed a reinforcement latch plate bracket for installation in the storage bin, if necessary. To reduce your inconvenience, you can inspect your storage bin to determine if the reinforcement latch plate bracket is required. If the bracket is required, you can install the bracket easily by following the enclosed instructions or by viewing a video at www.gm.com/hhr_recall (English) or www.gm.com/hhr_recall_french (French). If you would prefer to have your dealer install the reinforcement latch plate bracket for you, we strongly recommend that you take it to your dealer as soon as possible. This service will be performed for you at no charge.

What should you do?

If your vehicle requires the reinforcement latch plate bracket and you would like your dealer to install the bracket, you should contact your GM dealer to arrange a service appointment. Bring the bracket with you when you visit your dealer.
