Dear Altec Owner,

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

Altec Industries, Inc. has decided that a condition which relates to motor vehicle safety exists in certain AT35-G, AT37-G, AT235, and AT237 aerial devices manufactured between January, 2005 and October, 2008. These units are equipped with billet steel counterweight that is welded in place. In the event of weld failure, the counterweight may fall out while travelling. If these steel pieces fall in the path of the vehicle or other traffic, death or serious injury may result.

Altec has developed kits to improve the attachment of the billet steel counterweights. The installation of these kits is covered by Altec's warranty policy.

In order to determine if your unit is affected by CSN 542, compare the serial number of your unit with the list of affected units as described on the CSN. The repair can be performed by the customer or you may contact Altec Industries, Inc. at 1-877-GO-ALTEC (1-877-462-5832) to schedule the repair to be completed at an Altec facility, or by an Altec mobile service technician.

After contacting Altec Industries, Inc., if you are still not able to have the condition remedied within a reasonable time, you may write to: Administrator, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 1200 New Jersey Avenue SE, Washington, DC 20590 or call 1-888-327-4236 (TTY: 1-800-424-9153) or go to <http://www.safercar.gov>.

If you have sold or retired the unit please call Altec at 1-877-GO-ALTEC (1-877-462-5832) so the records may be changed.

If you have leased this equipment to another person or company, you are required by Federal Law to forward a copy of this notice to the lessee by first class mail within ten (10) days of the receipt of this notice.

We are sorry to cause this inconvenience; however we are taking this action in the interest of your safety and continued satisfaction with Altec products.

Thank you for your immediate attention on this important matter.

Customer Service Notice

Date: April 1, 2011

Units Affected: AT35-G, AT37-G, AT235, and AT237 aerial devices built from January 2005 through October 2008 and having billet-type counterweight for stability (see attached list).

[NOTE: CSN 520, published in 2009, covered units that had counterweight mounted either above the frame or under the frame extension, but not inside the frame extension. This CSN does not replace CSN 520, but covers units with counterweight installed in a different location. Units affected can be listed on both CSN's.]

Counterweight Inspection for Weight Installed Inside the Frame Extension

In 2005, billet steel began to be used as counterweight to assist stability in the above listed units. The billet steel is usually welded into place towards the rear of the vehicle. This steel, also called bar stock, is not intended for use as structural steel and is used strictly for weight.

There has been a report that a piece of the billet steel installed inside the frame extension at the rear of the vehicle has been found loose. Death or serious injury can result from objects falling in the travel path of the vehicle or other traffic. Weld failure can cause counterweight to fall in the travel path. Investigation of the problem shows that the welds holding the counterweight can break loose over time due to chassis flex. If the welds break, the counterweight can become dislodged and fall from the rear of the vehicle.

While this failure does not occur on all units, Altec requires an inspection of all affected units and installation of a billet retention kit within 60 days. Altec also requires that the operator perform a visual inspection of the unit's pins fasteners and welds at the unit at the beginning of each work day. Use the following procedure to perform the inspection. No special tools are required for the inspection.

1. Position the unit on a level surface, apply the parking brake and chock the wheels.
2. The steel billets are located inside the frame extension at the rear of the vehicle (refer to Figure 1).

- Count the number of pieces of the billet steel (refer to Figure 2) and use that number to determine the correct retention kit to order.

- Order the necessary kit to retain the counterweight from the list below. Kits are designed to provide a bolt-on set of retention brackets that will hold the counterweight in place even if the welds fail.

| No. of Billets | Kit Part Number |
|-----------------------|------------------------|
| 1                     | 970286785              |
| 2                     | 970286786              |
| 3                     | 970286787              |
| 4                     | 970286788              |
| 5                     | 970286789              |
| 6                     | 970286790              |

- Visually inspect the welds attaching the counterweight to the chassis frame to verify they have not broken loose. Also verify that none of the billet counterweights can be moved by hand.

- If the counterweights are all secure, the unit may be returned to service. Continue to visually inspect the counterweight daily until the retention kit is installed.
- If the counterweights are not secure, the unit must be taken out of service until the retention kit is installed.

Call 1-877-GO-ALTEC to order the proper kit or to schedule the work to be done by an Altec service technician. This repair is covered under the Altec Warranty System. Installation of the retention kit can be done by the customer. The parts for this repair are covered under the Altec Warranty System. Additionally, Altec will reimburse up to $140 for an inspection and the labor to perform this repair. A warranty claim must be submitted for reimbursement for the cost of the parts and labor. Customers are responsible for the travel costs of an Altec Mobile Service Technician if the technician performs the inspection or repair at the owner’s location.
