Recall Subject: 3 Crane Carrier 2009 Refuse Cab and Chassis' model LET2 HEV were built with an ELFA traction drive motor manufactured by Siemens AG. These motors contain a speed sensor that under very specific conditions, may send a distorted signal which can be interpreted by the controller as motor rotation and may result in the vehicle launch from a stop in the opposite direction of the range selected with the shifter and possibly resulting in a vehicle crash. This condition can only occur when the vehicle is stationary and affects only the launch of the vehicle.
