Recall Number and Description: 12S28 - Bendix ATR-6 Traction Control Relay Valve Repair

What is the Issue?

On your vehicle, it may be possible that a traction control relay valve could allow air pressure to enter the rear service brake system when ambient temperatures are at or below zero degrees Fahrenheit (-18 degrees Celsius). This condition could cause intermittent or, in isolated cases, continuous un-commanded rear service brake application during these cold temperatures, increasing the risk of a crash.
