NHTSA RECALL 12V101

October 10, 2012

Dear Volvo Owner,

This notice is sent to you in accordance with the requirements of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act.

In April 2012, a letter was sent to eligible vehicle owners announcing a safety recall on the underbody coating. Our records indicate that this important safety recall has not been completed on your vehicle. Please schedule an appointment at your local authorized Volvo retailer as soon as possible to have this important safety recall performed at no charge.

Volvo Cars of North America, LLC (Volvo) has decided that a defect which relates to motor vehicle safety exists in certain model year 2012 S60 and XC60 vehicles.

The reason for Recall 251:

Volvo has identified that an incorrect mixture of underbody coating, in combination with over-application, can result in rigid, icicle-like areas of underbody coating hanging from the undercarriage of the vehicle. If this condition is present in the location of the fuel lines, the underbody coating may penetrate the fuel lines resulting in fuel leakage. A fuel leak in the presence of an ignition source could result in a fire.

The corrective action is to inspect all eligible vehicles, and if excessive under body coating is found in the fuel line area, it will be removed. If the fuel lines are damaged, they will be replaced.

What you need to do:

Please contact your authorized Volvo retailer for an appointment. This procedure will be completed at no cost and can take up to 1.5 hours to complete; however, due to service scheduling and parts availability, the time your Volvo retailer requires to service your vehicle may vary.

If you had this repair performed before you received this letter, you may be eligible to receive reimbursement for the cost of obtaining a pre-notification remedy of the problem associated with this recall. For more information please refer to the Volvo Customer Care Center contact information in this letter.
