Dear Ms. Timian:

Re: Recall 13V-405 – Part 573 Report Update

On September 5, 2013, Suzuki Motor of America, Inc. (“SMAI”) submitted a Part 573 report concerning a defect in certain 2006-2011 model year Suzuki Grand Vitara and 2007-2011 model year Suzuki SX4 vehicles. In this report, SMAI identified the number of affected vehicles as 193,936 and indicated that this number excluded vehicles that had a countermeasure part installed under a special coverage campaign that Suzuki distributors had been conducting.

In November 2013, because a sufficient supply of recall parts was not yet available to start the recall, owners were sent an interim notification letter. The interim letter explained that a second notification letter would be sent when sufficient parts were available to start the recall and informed owners that the special coverage campaign that Suzuki had been conducting would continue until the recall begins. In April 2014, when Suzuki distributors were ready to start the recall, SMAI updated the number of affected vehicles for the recall to exclude additional vehicles that had a countermeasure part installed under the special coverage campaign, as of the date that the vehicle list for the second recall notification was finalized. At this time, the number of affected vehicles for Recall No. 13V-405 was updated to 189,793.

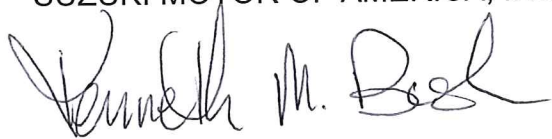

Suzuki Motor Corporation recently became aware that when SMAI provided reimbursement to owners for repairs performed prior to the start of the special coverage campaign, the vehicles for which reimbursement was provided may have been counted as having a countermeasure part installed under the special coverage campaign without actually having the countermeasure part installed. Suzuki Motor Corporation has determined that this situation may involve 108 vehicles that were repaired prior to the start of the special coverage campaign and were not included in the recall population. Accordingly, SMAI would like to update the population of affected vehicles for Recall No. 13V-405 to 189,901 vehicles.

SMAI will also send recall notification letters to the owners of the 108 vehicles that were not previously included in the recall population.

Please contact me if you have any questions concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

SUZUKI MOTOR OF AMERICA, INC.
