

Acura Recall Voice Alert to Customer

NHTSA ID: 14V-700

Date: January 28, 2015

This is a message from Acura regarding the safety of your (model year and model). We recently sent you an important safety recall notice. This notice explains that the passenger's front airbag inflator in your vehicle could malfunction upon deployment if it has been subjected to prolonged high temperatures and high absolute humidity. This malfunction may cause metal fragments to eject into the cabin that can hurt or kill you or your passengers. Your vehicle has been identified as sold, registered or operated in a region that experiences both prolonged high temperatures and high absolute humidity. Acura urges you to have your vehicle repaired. Our notice outlines what you need to do, including how to obtain a free recall repair at any authorized Acura dealer. If you need help finding a dealer, or have not received the notice, please call 1-800-382-2238 and select option 4. Thank you.
