Descriptive Information: Information Regarding Manufacturer of Defective Component:
• Identification of Component: Front passenger airbag inflator
• Component Manufacturer: Takata Corporation
The subject vehicles are equipped with either front passenger air bag SPI, PSPI, or PSPI-L inflators which are described in Part 573 Defect Information Reports submitted by Takata on May 18, 2015 (NHTSA Recall No. 15E-041) and December 15, 2015 (NHTSA Recall No. 15E-042).

The propellant wafers in some of the subject inflators may experience an alteration over time, which could potentially lead to an over-aggressive combustion in the event of an air bag deployment. Depending on the circumstances, this potential condition could create excessive internal pressure when the air bag is deployed, which may cause the body of the inflator rupturing upon deployment. Based upon Takata’s investigation to date, the potential for such ruptures may occur in some of the subject inflators after several years of exposure to persistent conditions of high absolute humidity.

Takata is also aware of a potential issue associated with the inflator body internal tape seals on some SPI inflators. During its investigation, Takata observed a small number of tape seal leaks in SPI inflators manufactured prior to 2007. These leaks were discovered during leak testing in 2014, as part of the Takata returned-inflator evaluation program. Leaks have been found in SPI inflators returned from several of the vehicle manufacturers. Such a leak can increase the potential for moisture to reach the main propellant wafers, possibly in areas outside of the highest absolute humidity States.

The models with passenger air bag PSPI-L inflators are being included due to ruptures found in Takata’s on-going project of testing and analyzing inflators that have been returned from the U.S. field. Takata has observed two test ruptures from this vehicle population out of 395 tested. There are no known inflator ruptures in the field for these vehicle models.

Recall Schedule:
- Description of Recall Schedule: HAH owner notification letters will be mailed in late-January 2016. Non-HAH interim notification letters will be mailed in mid-February 2016. Subsequently, once sufficient parts supply becomes available, the second non-HAH owner notification will be handled in multiple stages. Second notifications will be sent to owners of vehicles based on the inflator production date, oldest to newest, until all non-HAH owners are notified based on sufficient parts supply.
