and Warranty Administrator

General Motors is releasing Safety Recall today. The total number of U.S. vehicles involved is approximately 43.

Some vehicles may have been built with the right hand rear toe link, outer ball joint to knuckle fastener, tightened to a value below the required torque specification. If this nut is loose, the driver may experience a metallic clunking noise, particularly when the vehicle is travelling around corners or over bumps or potholes. Over time, if the condition is not addressed, the nut could loosen and the joint could separate, resulting in a sudden vehicle instability, increasing the risk of a crash.

To correct this condition, separate the rear toe link ball joint. Inspect the ball stud attachment hole in the knuckle for damage, and replace the knuckle if the ball stud attachment hole has worn out of round. If the attachment hole passes inspection, reassemble the toe link with a new nut.

Please see the attached bulletin for details.

It is a violation of Federal law for a dealer to deliver a new motor vehicle or any new or used item of motor vehicle equipment (including a tire) covered by this notification under a sale or lease until the defect or noncompliance is remedied.

All involved vehicles that are in dealer inventory must be held and not delivered to customers, dealer traded, or used for demonstration purposes until the repair contained in this bulletin has been performed on the vehicle.
