

Dear Jaguar Land Rover Employee,

Your personal vehicle may be affected by the Takata recall as detailed below.

There is currently an industry-wide airbag recall for vehicles with certain Takata front airbags containing a propellant referred to as phase-stabilized ammonium nitrate (PSAN). The Takata airbag recall is the largest automotive recall in history. About 70 million vehicles, made by 33 different manufacturers (including JLR) from 2000 – 2017, are currently impacted in the US.

A defective Takata PSAN airbag in a recalled vehicle may explode during a crash, shooting sharp metal shrapnel at the driver or passengers. This shrapnel can maim, injure or kill the vehicle occupants. To date, 20 deaths and numerous injuries have already been recorded, although no incidents have occurred in Jaguar or Land Rover vehicles.

Recalled vehicles by make, model, and model years can be found below. To find out if you, a family member, or a friend has a vehicle containing a defective Takata airbag requiring a recall repair, please check your VIN or License plate at <https://www.airbagrecall.com/>

We urge all employees with affected vehicles to have these free recall repairs completed immediately for your safety, and the safety of your loved ones.
