Attention: Mazda Service and Parts Managers

Subject: Safety Recall 8215F - Takata Frontal Driver Side Air Bag Inflator. UPDATE

Recall 8215F (NHTSA Campaign No. 15V-382) will supersede to Recall 1417G (NHTSA Campaign No. 17V-474) as the manufacturer of the remedy driver air bag inflator has changed. As the new manufacture no longer uses PSAN based propellant, the replacement remedy parts are considered "permanent".

Affected vehicles include 2003-2008 Mazda6, 2006-2007 Mazdaspeed6 vehicles and 2004-2008 RX-8 vehicles.

Due to delays in the transition process to Permanent Remedy parts, recall 1417G will be delayed by one week.

Please note that on September 2, MNAO IT is planning to load affected 1417G vehicles and they will display OPEN concurrently with 8215F for unrepaired vehicles. Dealers can perform the 8215F repair procedure as currently outlined.

Starting on August 02, 2017 through September 7, 2017, during the transition to Permanent Remedy parts, dealers will be allowed to use either the current or new replacement part to perform repairs for Recall 8215F. Beginning the week of August 14th, and through the first week of September, Mazda will work with Shipmate to remove the current supply of Recall 8215F parts from your inventory.

Parts collection instructions for removal of current inflator part numbers GPYA-57-K80 and F1Y2-57-K80 from dealer inventory will be sent out on Friday, August 11, 2017.
