What is the issue? On certain vehicles, a front shock absorber fork may crack. This may allow the shock absorber to come loose and cause the tire to contact the wheel housing. This could affect steering control. If the steering system does not work properly, there could be an increased risk of a crash.

What will we do? To correct this defect, your authorized Audi dealer will replace the affected shock absorber fork. This work will take about an hour to complete and will be performed for you free of charge. Please keep in mind that your dealer may need additional time for the preparation of the repair, as well as to accommodate their daily workshop schedule.

What should you do? Please contact your authorized Audi dealer without delay to schedule this recall repair. For your convenience, you can also visit www.audiusa.com and click on the “Find a Dealer” link to locate a dealer near you and schedule this service.
