Did your Inspection of the Steering Shaft Bolt find a White Line running from the bolt head to the nut, confirming the bolt/nut was torqued to 55ft lbs. at Jayco production facility?

YES No repair is required – Please return Reply form

NO I verified that the locking feature is engaged (at least two threads of the bolt are past the nut) which will allow safe travel to a dealer to have the bolt/nut torqued to 55ft lbs.

Please return Reply Form and contact a Dealer immediately for service appointment.
