What is the reason for this program?

An electrical overload event in the 48-Volt electrical system may cause a failure of the Metal Oxide Semiconductor (MOSFET). Failure of the MOSFET may cause the Direct Current to Direct Current (DC/DC) converter to experience an electrical short where the 12-Volt circuit shorts to ground. When this occurs, the 12-Volt electrical system will discharge, indicated by the battery warning lamp on the Instrument Panel Cluster (IPC). In some cases, the vehicle occupants may notice a burning smell and/or smoke from the DC/DC converter vent in to the passenger compartment.

An electrical short-circuit increases the risk of a fire.

What will Land Rover and your authorized Land Rover Retailer do?

Land Rover is carrying out a recall of the vehicles mentioned above. An authorized Land Rover retailer will update the vehicle software to the latest level.

There will be no charge for this repair under this program.

What should you do?

Until your vehicle receives these updates, it is strongly recommended that all occupants, including pets, exit the vehicle when parked. The vehicle should be parked outdoors and away from buildings or multi-story carparks where possible.

Please contact your preferred authorized Land Rover retailer and provide them with your Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) and request a service date to complete the work required under Program Code 'N503'.
